

SUNDAY WAS GREAT DAY AT BIG METH-ODIST REVIVAL

Three Great Services at Third Street Church Sunday — Building Is Crowded By the Throng.

The revival at the Third Street M. E. church is assuming mammoth proportions as to attendance and interest. The climax for crowds came with the Sunday evening service when every available seat was taken, all chairs that could be had were used, and standing room was at a premium. The church was also filled for the "Mothers and Daughters" service in the afternoon. It was a great day. Evangelist Callis was keyed up for the occasion and preached as never before. The women's service in the afternoon was especially impressive. "The Man That Sleeps in Church" the evening subject, was handled in a masterly manner. "Awake Thou That Sleepest" was the text. The whole sermon was an urgent warning against permitting Satan to so deaden the life that there is no awakening.

The big chorus choir is now in great working order. Prof. Grenfell is surely giving proof of his ability as an organizer and musical director. That such a large chorus could be formed and be made to sing as it does in short time seems nothing short of a marvel for a Maysville church. Many new and catchy choruses are being learned and sung. Just those kind of songs that keeps one humming over them to himself all the way home after meeting. The special musical numbers by violin, flute and piano were the best yet. "The Palmers" was played at the morning service, and "Schubert's Serenade" at night. Every selection played is a gem in itself. Altogether the Callis-Grenfell party is far exceeding all expectations. And the outlook for a genuine revival was never better.

The real intensive work of the meetings will begin with Monday evening's service at which time the program of work for the week will be announced. The meetings will continue for two more weeks, coming to a close on Easter Sunday night. This is a great opportunity for Maysville people of all churches. The meetings are for all. Services at 7:30 each evening. The "booster" club meetings at 7 o'clock sharp. Come.

FIRST MORTGAGES.

We offer First Mortgage investments of the highest character. In every loan offered, the soundness of value, title to property and standing of the borrower have been thoroughly investigated and approved by the officers and attorneys of this bank before being accepted as our own investments.

These investments are offered to the public with our highest recommendation. They bear interest at the rate of six per cent. This rate, considering the high type and large margin of security in these loans, is unusually attractive.

Investment in these mortgage loans helps finance the community, and the security is right here at home where you can make personal investigation if you want to.

MAYSVILLE FIRE DEPARTMENT EXTINGUISHES ABERDEEN FIRE

Odd Fellows Hall and Business Block Threatened By Blaze Early Saturday Evening.

Fire starting in the oil house in the rear of the Fulton grocery store in Aberdeen early Saturday evening threatened to destroy the building proper which houses the Boswell dry goods store and the Odd Fellows lodge room. The building is owned by the Aberdeen Odd Fellows.

The outbuildings, in which coal oil and gasoline was housed, were completely destroyed and the rear of the building proper caught. An appeal for aid was sent the Maysville Fire Department and they responded with the "Uncle Bob," auxiliary fire fighting machine. Chief Newell, and Firemen Reed and Brookover manned the machine and upon their arrival, soon had the fire under control by the use of chemicals.

The fire was located in the very heart of the Aberdeen business district and had not the local firemen gone to the rescue of the volunteers, the blaze would have been very destructive. It was extinguished, however, before it did any great damage to the building proper.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN LAWRENCEBURG.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF COAL MINES IS URGED BY LEWIS

Union Chief Appearing Before Congressional Committee Advises Government Ownership of All Coal Mines.

Washington, April 3. — Nationalization of the country's coal mines was "seriously suggested" to Congress today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mineworkers, appearing before the House Labor Committee, which is seeking a solution of the present strike.

Nationalization, Lewis told the committee is the inevitable remedy for the ills of the coal situation, which, he said, the operators have refused to remedy.

"The mineworkers," said Lewis "have been waiting, with ever-growing impatience, for many years, hoping to be able to detect some signs that the operators were awakening to the realization of their duties. But so far nothing has been accomplished."

"And so it is that the mineworkers say there now seems to be no hope except through nationalization. No remedy has been offered by the operators and, in default of any other remedy, the mineworkers seriously suggest that the government take over and operate the mines."

"We do not do this through any mischievous or wanton spirit. We have no desire to advocate irredeemable steps in any direction. But we see that it is inevitable that, sooner or later, the government must take the step of nationalization, because we have given up all hope of relief from the operators and, convinced as we are that it is a step in the right direction, we urge its consideration upon Congress."

"If the owners will not set their house in order the public must step in and enforce order because, in a democracy such as this, no set of men, whether in the ranks of labor or of capital, can be allowed permanently to maintain a public nuisance."

THE RULERS OF THE FUTURE.

President Harding recently received a large delegation of students representing about 250 colleges throughout the country. They came in the interests of a movement that has for its purpose the training of young men and women so that they may take an active part in public affairs. Mr. Harding was keenly alive to the significance of the visit. He impressed on his callers the fact that no person should prepare himself for his life's work with only selfish ends in view, but rather should equip himself to play his part in the affairs of government.

The future of the United States rests with the rising generation. Prosperity will be ours if its members approach their tasks as citizens with enthusiasm and intelligence. Disaster will come if the young people of our time think only of their own individual interests in the years before them. The country would be in dangerous straits if the students in our colleges were to accept the advice recently tendered a class at Georgetown University in Washington by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts. He told his audience that if they wanted to attain success in life they should steer clear of a public career. Fortunately the doctrine promulgated by Mr. Walsh has not found wide favor, but instead there is a growing realization of the importance of efficient public service, and of the necessity of preparing young people for it.

AND THE MAKEUP MAN IS THE ONE WHO PUTS THE WHOLE THING ON THE BUM

Asked to explain the difference between a journalist and an editor, a Georgia schoolboy wrote: "A journalist is a man who writes for the newspapers. An editor is a man who leaves out what the journalist writes."—Boston Transcript.

Even though the United States is not to be at Genoa, there is nothing to prevent this country from endorsing any decisions that may be arrived at by the participants, and aiding in every proper way in carrying them out. Let the European nations get together and work out a practical plan for their own rehabilitation. There will be found no lack of cooperation in the United States, so far as it may be extended without doing violence to American traditions and policies.

Mr. Bryan has moved to Florida and will be a candidate for Senator from that state. Mr. McAdoo has moved to California, and—well, we guess he has read the handwriting on the wall before this. Dubuque Times-Journal—With farm products prices up to a reasonable level, it is going to be hard to knock the present administration to the American farmers.

HE KEPT REDCOATS BUSY

H. G. Wells, British writer, says George Washington was an indolent man. We can imagine the line of reasoning by which he reached that conclusion. His logic was probably something like this: An indolent man could have whipped the British generals; Washington whipped them; hence, Washington was an indolent man.

A Dayton, Ky., man who killed two stud flies last Monday, figured that, using August 21 as the height of fly time, he has destroyed 8,640,923,721 flies. Swat 'em now and help cause a decrease in the pesky tribe.

The Cincinnati Post's Village Gossip says: "Some homes have so much jazz the baby cries like a saxophone." We've been wondering what caused that young hopeful on our square to cry like a slide trombone.

The Mason County Board of Tax Supervisors have spent much time in raising our taxes and now we've all got to get busy on raising them. We've no doubt but what there will be something else raised as well.

The speeding season has opened with the coming of warm sunshine and long evenings.

FORD'S PHILANTHROPY

The American people are slowly finding out what sort of man came near breaking into the United States Senate from Michigan. Mr. Ford, with the millions he has made out of the American people, bought the controlling interest in a railroad and then, because he did not own all of it and could not buy it, undertook to lease the road to a company controlled absolutely by members of his own family. Minority stockholders brought an injunction suit alleging that this was a move to "freeze them out." The Interstate Commerce Commission had the matter under investigation but Ford abandoned the project and the proceeding was dismissed. So far as the personal efforts of Mr. Ford and his exempted son Edsel were concerned the whole nation might have been frozen out during the recent war. Mr. Ford got more votes in his senatorial candidacy than he could ever get again.

THE TELEPHONE

I am a telephone. When I am not broke, I am in the hands of a receiver. I have a mouthpiece but unlike women, I never use it. Fellows use me to make dates with girls and use me to break said dates. Husbands call over their wives over me, and wives call their husbands down over me. I never go any where but sometimes the company comes and takes me out. I am not a bee, but I often buzz in your ear, and while I do not wear jewelry, I often get rings. Whether I do things or not, a lot of people nail me to the wall; and I like music. I get all the popular airs, and the most popular one is hot air.—Rogersville Herald.

"Save Children of Near East" Pleads Member of Relief Commission

Mrs. Florence

Spencer

Duryea,

Just

Returned

From a

Journey

thru the

Levant, Says

Scores of Children are

Dying Daily

THOUSANDS of orphans throughout the Near East who owe their lives to America still look to us for their food and shelter, according to Mrs. Florence Spencer Duryea, Director of the Women's Organizations of the Near East Relief. Mrs. Duryea was a member of the Commission which has just returned to this country after a two months' investigation of conditions in the Levant.

"They look to us, for they have no one else to look to," Mrs. Duryea declares. "We have been caring for them during the long years of warfare, which has not yet ceased in the Near East, and we must continue while the present need exists."

"Though much of our work has been done and it will require just a little more effort to complete the task, the situation this year makes immediate and effective action necessary. Due to invasion and disturbed political conditions an additional burden has been thrown upon us, especially in Armenia, where there are thousands of little tots facing a dreadful death unless we answer their appeal."

"I saw hundreds of children, so thin and weak from under-nourishment."

ment that they could hardly drag themselves along the ground, crying for something to eat at the gates of Near East Relief orphanages in Alexandropol and Erivan. The institutions are already overcrowded, and unless additional facilities are provided, no more can be admitted. "This means a situation so horrible that I hate to think of it, for winter is coming, and winter in Transcaucasia is bitterly cold and the starvation and disease that is now carrying off scores every day will grow worse."

"If more American women could only see the sights that I saw, of babies dying in their mothers' arms, of youngsters who still need a mother's care scratching in refuse for a morsel of something to eat; of others so shriveled up from starvation that they more resembled mummies from some ancient Egyptian tomb than anything human; if they could only see these sights, and worse, I know they would see that America did not forsake a task that up to this time has been so wonderfully done."

Mrs. Duryea was the only woman member of the Commission to visit Transcaucasia, where she was the guest of the various local governments.

THE MIGHTY EMPIRE OF THE SOUTH IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Relation of the Rapid Strides Being Made in the Southland to the Unbuilding of Our Great Nation.

Much has been said in business and political circles about the development of foreign trade. But are we not becoming a little too obsessed with the idea that our future depends on getting the just-over-the-fence-sort of trade when we have abundant grass in our own pasture? Let us turn our thoughts to the proper development of our own country. In the South we have a mighty empire that is paying a hundredfold and more toward the country's material advancement. Every dollar spent or invested in the South remains in the United States and adds to the wealth and prosperity of the whole country, both employee and employer benefiting, enlarging the market of the producers of the North and West.

In the following tersely presented facts of the South's development during the last decade are indications of the magnitude of the buying power of this section:

Ten years of southern development showing percentage of growth since 1910:

Population	11.8
Manufactures:
Capital	138.6
Products, value	210.5
Power used, horse-power	53.6
Mines, Quarries, and Wells:
Capital	246.2
Mineral products, value	518.3
Power used, horse-power	103.6
Farm property, value	97.9
Farm products, value	50.7
Highway expenditures	308.0
Railroad mileage	6.3
Exports, value	287.6
Deposits, National banks	196.5
Deposits, all other banks	226.2
Public school expenditures	213.5
Assessed value taxable property	122.9

The South with 36,307,000 people and 945,000 square miles of land, has about one-third of the population and area of the United States.

According to the last census, the South has about 23 per cent. of the number of manufacturing establishments (capitalized at more than $500 and excluding hand and building trades and neighborhood industries) in the United States. The capital invested in these plants amounts to more than $6,885,546,000 and the value of their products is more than $9,808,114,000. They give employment to more than 1,800,000 people. The amount of capital invested in Southern factories in 1919 was nearly three times the amount of capital invested in manufacturing in the whole country in 1880, and within 13 per cent. of the capital invested in manufacturing in the rest of the country outside of the South in 1900. The South purchased over $6,094,137,000 worth of materials for its factories in 1919. The amount of capital invested in cotton factories alone in the South is over $837,870,000, which is more than four times the amount of capital invested in cotton mills in the whole country in 1880. The South is now consuming in its own cotton factories more than 59 per cent. of the cotton taken by American mills.

The value of the mineral products of the South in 1920 was $2,255,835,000. This was about $295,000,000 more than the total for the whole country as late as 1910, and over $1,915,000,000 more than the total for the United States in 1880. The South has nearly one-third of the mines and quarries of the country. This section has increased the number of its mines and quarries since 1910, while the rest of the country outside of the South had a decrease.

The South has the largest natural gas field in the world. The South produces about three-fourth of the world's sulphur.

The South has over half of the oil reserves of the country and is now producing 57 per cent. of the country's petroleum supply. The number of petroleum and natural gas wells in the South has increased since the 1910 census by 195 per cent, while the increase in the rest of the country outside of the South was but 24 per cent.

The South has over a third of the coal area of the country. In 1920 the South produced about 26 per cent. of the country's coal which was 93,000,000 tons more than the output of the whole country in 1880.

The South's iron resources are in keeping with its coal reserves.

The South is producing about 50 per cent. of the country's lumber and has about 40 per cent. of the forest area and about a quarter of the standing timber of the United States.

Development of water power in the South up to 1920 amounted to 2,249,600 horsepower, an increase of 1,257,659 horsepower since 1908. The maximum undeveloped water power of the South is estimated at over 8,000,000 horsepower.

Construction contracts awarded in the South last year amounted to more than $400,000,000, while during the year preliminary announcements including contemplated construction projects involved an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000,000. These figures were compiled from the news items published from week to week by the Manufacturers Record.

The deflated value of the South's agricultural products is about $5,000,000,000 and though this is over $4,000,000,000 less than the 1919 value of agricultural products in the South, it is nearly two-and-a-half times the value of the agricultural products of the country in 1880. The South on about 36 per cent. of the total farm acreage of the country produced over 41 per cent. of the country's crop values in 1920. The value of Southern farm property in 1920 was $21,669,552,000, or $1,259,000,000 more than the value of all farm property in the United States in 1880.

The South in 1920 spent $224,180,000 for commercial fertilizers, or nearly twice as much as the whole country spent in 1910.

The South's 91,169 miles of railroad nearly equals the railroad mileage reported for the whole country in 1880.

The South spent on highway improvement through state highway departments $150,000,000 in 1921, and it is estimated that over $400,000,000 will be spent in 1922 in the South under Federal, state and county supervision.

The value of exports through Southern ports for the fiscal year 1921 was over $2,241,189,000, or more than a third of the value of the total exports of the United States, and $519,205,000 more than the total value of the exports of the United States in 1910.

National bank resources in the United States in 1900 were $5,048,000,000, while the South in 1920 had resources of $4,678,000,000; deposits in national banks in the United States in 1900 amounted to $2,560,000,000, while the South had deposits in national banks in 1920 of $2,666,000,000. Other bank deposits (state, savings, private, etc.) in the South in 1920 were $3,447,000,000, compared with $4,400,000, the amount of deposits in all banks, excepting national banks, in the rest of the country outside of the South in 1900.

The South is spending on public schools over $204,225,000, which is about five per cent. less than the whole country spent in 1900, and $24,000,000 more than the rest of the country outside of the South spent at that time.

The estimated true wealth of the United States in 1880 was about $43,642,000,000, while the estimated true wealth of the South in 1920 was approximately $70,000,000,000, or probably double the wealth of the whole country forty years ago.

This array of facts on the South's economic development outlines the possibilities of this region of marvelous resources and achievements as a field worthy of cultivation by the business men of the nation. Like charity, the upbuilding of business begins at home. These facts and many more of equal importance were taken from the Blue Book of Southern Progress, which has just been issued by the Manufacturers Record.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — Capitalists here are much interested in the new mining ventures, headed by Harry Payne Whitney, Bulkeley Wells and Charles M. Schwab, in the old Comstock lode, which made Nevada at one time the greatest gold producing state in the Union. Generations ago more than $700,000,000 worth of gold and silver was taken out of the ground there and such fortunes as the Mackay, Fair, Flood and Mills may truly be said to have started there. Now New Yorkers are spending more than $7,000,000 in preparation for mining the millions of tons of low grade ores remaining in the Comstock. Virginia City, Dayton, Silver City and other camps made famous by Bret Harte and Mark Twain, from being deserted villages have become thriving towns where it is almost impossible to obtain bed and board. One of the most interesting developments is that of the Carson River bed where Government experts say close to $300,000,000 in gold and silver was lost through the crude reduction methods of the seven mills working there. W. C. Ralston, former Senator and Assistant Treasurer of the U. S. in San Francisco, is in charge of this work and has associated with him a number of prominent New Yorkers.

Members of the New York police automobile squad say that sixty per cent. of the autos stolen in this city are "stolen" with their owners' consent and best wishes.

Thethirty years war has a rival; one which equals its record of length. In 1888, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Meeker were married. Six months later

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Mayville resident has withstood the sternest of all tests. Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, Mayville, says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and I have reason to recommend them. At times my back has become lame and ached just over my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action and I was dizzy. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills I always get relief from these complaints. I certainly think them a good reliable remedy. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's Drug Store."

The above statement was given November 16, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday said: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pills four years ago. My general health has been good. I gladly renew the statement I gave recommending Doan's at that time."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Holliday had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

they began trying to get divorced. They are still trying. Mr. Meeker now lives in Plainfield, N. J., one of our most popular suburbs, and Mrs. Meeker, in Riverdale, another attractive commuting stop out of New York. They never have quite achieved the decree, although efforts have been made almost alternately by both sides either for divorce or legal separation. The palm of partial victory has gone first to one and then other but they still are man and wife. Vice-Chancellors have listened to the case, considered it and been removed from this world's strife before they got it settled. However, neither partner in matrimony has given up as yet.

—NY—

When Herman Weinberg, a beggar, was searched in Cimer street station, Brooklyn, the other day, just 1,814 pennies were found on his person. He said they had all been given to him in one day and he considered it a "fairly good" haul.

—NY—

Within a month two alert young New York girls have leaped from the typewriter to the footlights. The first was Ruth Berser, who stayed with the same organization during the leap. She was secretary in A. H. Woods' publicity department and some one told him he was wasting beauty and talent there. He tried her in his "Lawful Larceny" and she is now a permanent part of the cast. The interesting thing is that except for matinee afternoons, she is still secretarial at his publicity daytimes. Freda Inescort is the other. Until "The Truth About Bladys" opened she was secretary to the British Consul, a post which sounds far removed from the stage. She plays the part of Septima Bladys Conway, the young daughter in the play.

—NY—

There were 361,345 rent actions in this city last year. It certainly made work for the judges when that legislature decided that landlords couldn't have absolutely free reign in charging people what they liked for a place to sleep and a place to eat.

—NY—

The Rev. Mebane Ramsay, pastor of a Staten Island Presbyterian church, does not intend to let the frivolous side of the world get ahead of the serious. He sympathizes with the young people of his church who are staying away from service Sunday evenings in order to be entertained with radio concerts; so instead of lecturing them on their failings, he has arranged to have sermons, sacred music, and educational lectures of a high order be broadcasted on Sundays. If the young men and women won't come to church to hear them, they shall hear them in their homes.

A divorce evidences a fact is the latest money-making scheme to be unearthed in this city of myriads of such devious devices of making a living. One Jack Berkowitz, an apparently honest truckman in working hours, has been charged with carrying on a regular business of "framing" evidence for men and women seeking divorce and not being able to get the necessary evidence.

THE RHINE

OCCUPATION ACCOUNT.

Washington, D. C. — "There seems to be an impression in Europe, shared by some editors in the United States that Secretary Hughes exhibited a lack of diplomatic tact in presenting the claim of this country for reimbursement of the cost of maintaining the American army on the Rhine," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "The view is taken that the American observer present at the meeting of the allied finance ministers waited until they had reached an agreement for a division of the first billion gold marks received from Germany, and then stepped in with a demand of priority for the American claim of $241,000,000."

"Well, let us see. The American claim for payment of the costs of the American army of occupation was based originally on the terms of the Armistice of November 11, 1918, which said that German territory was to be occupied by the Allied and United States forces jointly. It was then stipulated that 'the upkeep of the troops shall be charged to the German government.' Later the Versailles treaty provided that out of reparations 'the expenses of the armies of occupation shall first be met.' The United States did not become a party to that treaty, but under the terms of the separate treaty between this country and Berlin the United States 'expressly reserves all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations, or advantages to which it became entitled under these terms of the armistice, or which, under the Treaty of Versailles, have been stipulated for its benefit.' Our troops were left in German territory at the urgent request of England and France on the plea that American troops would be more effective than allied forces in preserving peace. Those nations then agreed to see the United States reimbursed."

"It may be said that the Hughes demand should have been directed to Germany. But he was confronted with a state of affairs. Germany can make no financial move except with the consent of the allies, who are on the ground with their reparations commission. Every bit of war indemnity goes through that commission. We have no disposition to find fault with that arrangement so long as it does not infringe upon American rights under the Berlin Treaty. When the commission does interfere with those rights, it is the duty of the Secretary of State to protect them."

"Now, as to the abruptness of Mr. Hughes' action. The fact is that he strained diplomatic practice to the limit in giving the allied ministers opportunity to take cognizance of the American claim without the necessity of any reminder from Washington. Up to that very last minute, when the agreement for division of the reparations payment was about to be signed, Mr. Hughes remained silent, but when it became apparent that the United States was to be ignored entirely he stepped in and recalled to the minds of the ministers the stipulations which should have governed their actions. Even then there was no insistence on immediate payment, but only on an official recognition of the American claim."

"This whole incident is but another manifestation of the desire of certain foreign ministers to shut the United States off from any share in the victory won in 1918. What this country has done in this way of money loans and supplies sent to the devastated regions since the war is sufficient proof that the United States has no grasping proclivities. Other nations have seized former German territory and other spoils of war, while this country has been content with vindicating its international rights. We intend, however, to collect the ordinary obligations due us from abroad."

SUPREME KNIGHT ENDORSES CAMPAIGN

Head of Knights of Columbus Urges People to Give To Jewish Relief Work in Europe

Salvation Army Leader Also Calls Upon People of All Faiths To Help In The Worthy Cause

One of the splendid features of the American Jewish Relief Committee's nation-wide appeal for $14,000,000 for the relief of starving and destitute Jewish orphans and men, women and children in Europe is the hearty endorsement given by the people of other faiths.

In a letter to David A. Brown, Chairman of the national appeal, James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus, writes:

"I can assure you that the Knights of Columbus everywhere are in sympathy with the object of your Committee to raise funds for the suffering Jewish people of Europe. American Christians have reason to be grateful for the generous support given to numerous Christian charities by our Jewish citizens. In ordinary fairness, to the appeal you are making, Christians should welcome this opportunity to reciprocate."

Col. William F. Jenkins, National Secretary of the Salvation Army, in the absence of Commander Evangelina Booth abroad, wrote Mr. Brown expressing the hope that the effort will be most successful, "to alleviate human suffering in the stricken zones of Europe where helpless women, children and old men particularly, victims of post-war conditions there, hang on the verge of starvation or worse." In Kentucky the Committee is raising $150,000 and all subscriptions, whether from Jews or non-Jews will be gratefully received.

"BIG RETURNS FROM THE WORK"—VROOMAN

Former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture In Wilson Administration Says Relief Work Pays

Tells Convention of Farmers That Food Shipped to Europe Will Repay Them Many Fold

In a strictly dollars and cents viewpoint, the American people will be amply repaid for all the relief work they do in Europe, declared Carl Vrooman, of Illinois, former assistant Secretary of Agriculture, during the Wilson administration. In a recent address to the Farmers' Grain Dealers' Association of Illinois.

"Thirty million dollars," said Mr. Vrooman, "have been appropriated by the American congress and the Soviet government and although the money has not all been expended, the price of corn has already gone up several cents a bushel."

"This means," continued Mr. Vrooman, "that the American people are making a profit on their gift to the famine stricken districts in Europe, whether they realize it or not. I venture to say that never in the history of the world has there been a parallel situation—when by giving away $30,000,000 worth of food, a nation was enabled to make a large profit in a few weeks. The amazing thing is that everybody in the country is not shouting wildly from the rooftops in a concerted demand that this process be continued as long as there are hungry mouths in Europe and unsalable surpluses in America."

Mr. Vrooman's line of thought is in accord with that of Sir Harry Lauder, who in a recent letter to Col. Fred Levy, of Louisville, endorsed the work of the American Jewish Relief Committee in the campaign to raise $14,000,000 for relief work among the Jewish people in Central and Eastern Europe. Kentucky's share of the money to be raised is $150,000 and a campaign is now being conducted to secure it. People of all faiths, whether Jews or not, are urged to give to the campaign to save these unfortunate people from starvation and to give them a chance to begin over again.

REPORTS SHOW FINE WORK BEING DONE

Kentucky cities are responding splendidly to the appeal of the American Jewish Relief Committee in the campaign to raise $150,000 in the state for destitute Jewish people in Europe. Morton Hecht, of Norfolk, Va., who is assisting the state workers has organized Owensboro, Henderson, Ashland and other cities. In Owensboro, Silas Rosenfeld is chairman and in Henderson S. B. Mann is chairman with Vance Evans, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce as secretary. In all these cities people of all faiths are taking an active interest in the work not only in giving subscriptions but also in urging others to give.

SLIMLY FED PULLETS BECOME POOR LAYERS.

Lexington, Ky. — Three-fourths of the pullets hatched annually in Kentucky grow into undeveloped hens and poor layers largely because the ration fed them while they are young lacks protein, poultrymen at the College of Agriculture say. This can be corrected if the chicks are given all that sour skim milk or buttermilk that they can drink or have a dry mass available at all times containing from ten to twenty per cent. meat scrap or tankage that is 60 per cent. protein, they say. During the first two months the mash also should contain from five to ten per cent. bone meal, it was added.

Suggestions given by the poultrymen on chick feeding include recommendations to withhold feed until the chicks are at least 48 hours old, to avoid overfeeding, to feed only fresh clean feeds and to get the chicks on that ground as soon as weather permits.

"After the first feed of milk, any good commercial chick grain or a grain mixture made of equal parts of finely ground cracked corn, wheat and steel cut oats can be added," J. R. Smyth said. "It is best to feed this mixture five times a day in amounts that the chicks will clean up in 15 minutes."

"During the second week, the same grain mixture fed three times a week should be continued and a dry mash added to the chick feed. Any good commercial chick mash or a home made mixture of 20 pounds of shorts, 20 pounds of corn meal, one and a half pounds of charcoal, eight pounds of bone meal and 12 pounds of sifted meat scrap may be used."

"About the seventh week the grain mixture may be changed to a coarser one and by the twelfth week, the chick should be able to eat the same size grain being fed to laying hens. During the second to twelfth weeks, the mash should be kept before the chicks at all times in a self-feeder or hopper and the birds given as much milk as they can drink."

JOBLESS SOLDIERS.

Of the 4,000,000 men who volunteered or were selected for service against Germany, more than 800,000 are out of work, according to American Legion figures. Scores of the 11,000 posts of the Legion have been forced to provide lodgings and meals for their unfortunate comrades-in-arms—a state of affairs such as no one could have believed would be possible a brief five years ago, when these men shouldered their rifles and marched to the country's defense. To such veterans, who gave up everything at the call of duty, the country now owes a reciprocal duty—the duty of helping them to the utmost of its capacity to find work which they need to keep their families together and put bread in their own mouths. Wh will deny this call today?

Colonel Arthur Woods, a member of the President's Conference on Unemployment, states today's problem tersely:

"When the country needed these men," he says, "they reported cheerfully for duty. Now they need work and the industry of the nation is called upon to do its job as well as they did theirs. It is the duty of every man who has worked to give to bend all his effort toward putting the soldier without a job into some line of useful production, and not until every ex-soldier of the late war has found suitable employment can we say with any sense of satisfaction that our economic problem is solved."

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH ME?"

Thousands Who Ask That Question Will Be Interested in This Answer.

Human flesh is heir to many ailments, but aside from the acute and the contagious diseases, most people become sickly from neglect. They have indigestion and do nothing for it. They get nervous and often sleep poorly, and do nothing to cure themselves. From these and other causes they gradually lose strength and vitality and feel tired much of the time and often "blue" and despondent. If you feel below par take Gude's Pepto-Mangan and let it restore your strength and vitality and overcome that weakness by building up your blood to the right richness and redness. Then you will feel fine and vigorous again, and have plenty of "pep." For thirty years Gude's Pepto-Mangan has been the doctor's favorite tonic for run-down people.
